

The monthly newsletter for World Book Online

Read, Renew, Repeat

This summer is in full swing and with that, summer reading! Summer reading provides an excellent opportunity for young readers to explore different genres and topics, broadening their horizons and stimulating their imagination. Read, Renew, Repeat with iREAD and your local library explores topics of conservation, such as protecting biodiversity and preventing extinction.

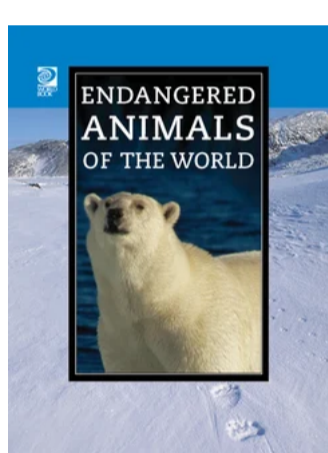

In this month's World Book Wired, we are brimming with fun ideas, captivating book titles, and interactive games to help kids have the time of their lives this summer.

Understanding climate change is crucial in today's world, and it's a topic that affects everyone on the planet. World Book Student has educational games from Legends of Learning to make learning about climate change more engaging for kids.

Bees may be small in size, but they have a massive impact on the natural world! What Would Happen If... challenges readers to consider their own actions and explore how they can lend a hand in solving global issues, like the dwindling population of bees.

Whether it's the majestic tiger, the gentle sea turtle, or the elusive snow leopard, each endangered animal has a unique story of survival that can inspire us to take action. The Endangered Animals of the World series allows you to read about these animals alongside vibrant photographs.
